

Scholarship Fund Heats Up At Orchard Valley

On a day when most of Chicagoland was desperate to get into the air conditioning, Builders Association members and guests looked to avoid the water...and the hazard it brought at Orchard Valley Golf Course in Aurora.

Since 2003, the Builders Foundation has helped fund the educations of college students seeking careers in Construction Management or Construction Engineering. In that short time, the Foundation has provided over $200,000 to 33 individuals.

The annual Builders Foundation Golf Outing raised over $28,000 for the cause. Mother Nature made it hard on golfers as the heat index approached 110 degrees, but over 120 people were able to join us for lunch, a round of golf and the 19th Hole Cocktail Reception.

This year's scholarships were awarded to Iowa State University's Keegan Goss, Brian Hampel and Alius Lapinskas, Bradley University's Kara Blanco and Moses White-Miller and Purdue University's Ellen Zouras. Scholarship applications for 2012 are now available on the Builders Association's website, as are the rules and regulations for applying for one of these $3,000 annually renewable awards.
